

OUR COMMITMENT TO YOUR HEALTH

Being a corporate/commercial photographer, many of the images my team and I create are necessary for you and your business to be able to stay in communication with your clients. Yes, even during a pandemic!

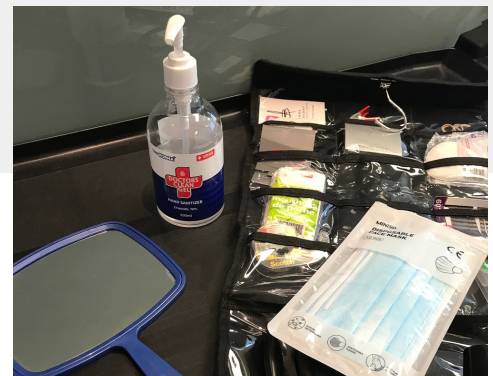

Rest assured that my team and I are taking precautions and have adapted our photography sessions and workflow to comply with the latest health and safety recommendations:

- We promise to stay home if feeling at all unwell and ask the same of your professionals that we may be photographing.
- We will limit the number of team members present during photoshoots, until further notice.

- We will wear face masks or face shields.
- We will sanitize our hands between each person being photographed.
- Table, chair, equipment and computer will be sanitized regularly.
- Session times will be extended to allow for sanitizing between appointments.

Whether working together on set indoors, or shooting outdoors on location, we promise to keep you safe by wearing the appropriate PPE.

We have added hand sanitizer and disposable masks to our grooming kits for your safety.

"Anna explained her protocols for social distancing, how we would conduct the photo session, how we would deal with reviewing the photos on site and made sure I felt comfortable which then translated into our employees being comfortable too. I can wholeheartedly say the photo shoot was a resounding success, very safe, and the finished results are stunning."
